

WE NOMINATE

William Shepherd Dix, one of the country's outstanding librarians and formerly Chairman of the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO, who this week belongs in the headlines for his analysis of some of the problems which have led the University to build an auxiliary storage library on the James Forrestal Campus — two miles from Nassau Hall. It is the 57-year old Dix's contention that the "information explosion," with the Firestone Library, the core unit in the 13th largest university library in the country, growing at the rate of 3.2 per cent annually, has brought the Library face-to-face with "revolutionary changes in the storage, handling and even publication of texts."

"The annex idea, which has been under study for several years, recognizes that every book is important to the person who wants it," Dix explains. "However, if it is wanted only once in 20 or 30 years, its average importance to the whole academic community is so low that it can be shelved somewhere outside of the main library center." Consequently, volumes going into the Princeton storage library include long-unused grammars, outdated music books and "how-to-do-it" sports texts from the 19th century. Approximately half of the volumes selected to date are in the field of religion, many of which have never been once removed from the Library by any interested reader.

The Virginia-born Dix, a native of Berryville, where his father ran the general store in a community of about 1,000 people in the northern Shenandoah Valley near Winchester, has helped the United States attain a position of world leadership in library affairs. He has been a member of a little-publicized group of educators who have worked effectively with their counterparts in any number of nations, adapting the philosophy and techniques of American librarianship to individualized national needs in the Far East and Africa.

As Chairman of the American Library Association's Committee on Intellectual Freedom, Dix, active over the years in a half-dozen professional societies, performed yeoman's service in the early 1950's and helped sponsor one of the most moving documents of the post-World War II era, "The Freedom to Read," issued in 1953 before President Eisenhower gave his famous "book-burning address" at Dartmouth College. This statement of principle emphasized: "Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain . . . Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it less able to deal with stress."

Dix was a member of the Class of 1931 at "The University" in Charlottesville, where he also received his Master's Degree. In 1946 he was awarded his doctorate by the University of Chicago, having served in the intervening years as a master at the Darlington School, Rome, Ga.; on the English faculty and director of the Committee on Private Research at Western Reserve University; as an instructor in English at Williams College; and as a research associate in Harvard's Radio Research Laboratory, specializing on radar counter-measures in World War II. He taught a post-war year at Harvard, joined the Rice Institute and was called to Princeton in 1953, exchanging Rice's splendid Fendren Library for the Princeton post he fills with distinction.

For his penetrating understanding of the issues confronting American higher education and university libraries in these turbulent 1960's: for undertaking the intriguing responsibility of "weeding" one of the Western World's great library collections; for placing books and libraries among the "our greatest instruments for freedom," he is our nominee as among his fellow teenagers, causes trouble."

"He is the agitator, the one who thinks up ways to get his kicks. He's really suffering from a lack of confidence and must continue to show 'brav' to prove he's in. These kicks can come in the form of dope, but this is greatly exaggerated. Very little can be obtained, but what is, is blow up (proportion-wise)."
"People who take this are proud of the fact. I'd love to take dope, but I'm afraid, mainly because I know the facts. Everyone should."

"Parents shouldn't know anything because it gets them too upset and it's not so bad as they make it seem. Adults just make it worse by grounding the kids. Then they want to do more because their parents won't let them and then they get in worse trouble than they were in the first place."
"There should be opportunities for jobs. (Y.E.S. is great, but we need the support of stores!)"

"About the only thing I would like them to know is that if their son suddenly runs away from home for a while, it doesn't always mean they don't like it at all. It just means sometimes you want to get away from home and be on your own for a while."

"About drugs — I think this is unfortunate. Personally, if they're to have to legalize marijuana sometimes just as they had to lift prohibition in the 30's. I think legalization will be a help."

"The adult community should know that the teenagers here that cause the most trouble and create the most problems are those that need help the most on a more in-depth scale and are not getting it."

"I think the adult community here ought to be more aware WHY NOT. What does kids to use drugs in the first place. I do feel this question has been probed deeply enough."

"Why should the teenagers be told to stop loitering on Palmer Square on Saturdays when the protest group is allowed to stay?"

"The adults of Princeton should know that parents should place only enough restriction on the teenage children in order to keep them from drastic mistakes, otherwise almost inevitable. Kids our age should be able to make their own standards; the parents should offer guidance, but not force their kids to do anything."

"I feel the adults in Princeton should know the kind of work that the teenagers are doing to obtain a youth center and why we want it and need to show responsibility on our part."

"Grown-ups and teenagers should talk more. Grown-ups are usually good guys but most teenagers don't realize this. If we had more discussions, maybe teenagers would find out more about grown-ups and the grown-ups would have a better understanding of the teenagers."
"We aren't so bad, but we are afraid to say what we think and do because we think the grown-ups will think that what we do is bad. To be some fun isn't bad. Grown-ups aren't prudes. They drink, smoke and have fun. We should understand each other."

"About teens to parents: If you're so worried about teens drinking and taking drugs, maybe some of you who worry should ask yourselves from what they try to escape and start from there."

"I'd like to see all drugs, pot, etc. removed from Princeton. Even if marijuana is basically harmless, the thought of Princeton kids, kids I know, taking drugs, absolute terrifies me."

"Alcohol was a tradition or custom of most of the world. When Europeans came to America, they decided that all other ways of getting high were wrong."
"Thus the Europeans decided marijuana, which does less damage than alcohol to the body, was bad and became outlawed. What is wrong with awakening more of your mind and sharpening your awareness?"

"We have no PLACE TO GO unless there's a dance, so do you blame us for loitering the streets? We are teenagers, not adults, treat us so, not as criminals."

"This doesn't have anything to do with what the adults should know — I don't know about that, but I'd like someone to discuss the question of stealing. This is becoming quite a bit, especially with girls. There has been much discussion on the pros and cons of such things as drugs and smoking, but so much has been said about thefts."

"Why can't the parents understand it? Why must they look for something wrong in everything we do? Because of a few drug incidents in Princeton, why must all others of us suffer by over-protective parents? ... And when people do turn to drugs — why must their parents (most of them, anyway) reject their kids instead of helping them and finding out just why they felt they had to turn to drugs?"

"Let us walk on the streets without having the cops yell at us for loitering. Help us get a place to sit and talk and buy a coke for less than 50 cents."

TOPICS Of The Town

THE VASSAR G-STRINGERS, specialists in guitar-folk music, will appear Saturday evening in The Catecomb, Princeton teenagers' haunt in Trinity Church. The group has toured the Eastern Seaboard, giving several concerts in Carnegie Hall and, most recently, performed at the Cornett Fall Fete. Standing, second from left, is Trika Smith of Hodge Road.

chance to draft specific alternatives.

Also the Princeton board will fill out the June, 1967 questionnaire from the state highway department in such a way that both the state and Lawrence get the general idea of Princeton Township disapproval.

Lawrence would like to hook in a 206-by-pass to the Township's Loop Road, either in its C-1 or C-2 positions. Harold Erdman, chairman of the board's Road Sub-Committee, pointed out Monday night at the Planning Board meeting that the Township's Loop Road is intended to be a local, around-Princeton road—not a segment of Route 206.

Lawrence says that 80 percent of the traffic along 206 in that township, is Princeton.

Trenton traffic; however, no origin-destination studies have been formally made. Mr. Erdman surmised.

K. Dexter Miller, of Brookstone, formerly a member of the Lawrence Township Planning Board, told the Princeton Planning Board not to "oppose just to oppose," and suggested a working alliance with Lawrence to keep the state from translating into action its idea of making Route 206 a four-lane arterial.

In a linked road problem, Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Township Planning Board, said Monday night that the state has still not replied to two letters from the Township about the interchange at the future new Kingston bridge.

IN FULL COLOR

The first multi-color advertisement to appear in TOWN TOPICS is carried this week on pages 48 and 49. Inserted by the Rug and Furniture Mart and Toy Manor, it is a pre-printed through the press simultaneously with the regular paper in that section. Other advertisers whose manuscripts are in a position to provide them with similar rolls of newspaper prepared in advance of publication are invited to call TOWN TOPICS Advertising Department for further details.

"The finished plans presented by the state in October were certainly different from those we saw at the spring public hearing," commented Planning Board member John Wallace.

Mr. Sander explained that the problem is a "working" intersection of the new bridge, the Loop Road and the 82-A bypass. Also, the state has been making comments about a 206-year-old "grant from the crown" right-of-way 98 feet wide. Not only does this seem alarmingly wide for that part of town, observed Mr. Sander, but the state is vague about exactly where the 98 feet are laid down.

Asked bluntly "How much money does this Planning Board have with the state?" Mr. Sander smiled rather warily and said, "We will continue to urge a more acceptable plan from the state and will keep making our feelings known."

In other matters, the Planning Board:

back with more complete preliminary plans on December 11.

- Told Bernard Barenholtz, 444 Rosedale, that the board doesn't mind if he builds an addition to his house with only a 30 feet setback (the zoning requirement) instead of the 72-foot setback that is the rule in "Campus Estates," the development where the Barenholtz house is. Neighbors, the board warned, may feel differently, however.
- Told Norton C. Jefferson, Cherry Valley Road, that the Township doesn't really care whether Mr. Jefferson or Arthur Brokaw owns a duplicated 80 x 80 foot plot on which the Township wants to build a pumping station, so long as the Township can buy it from somebody who has a clear title.

INVESTIGATION STARTS
In Princeton Bowl Fire. A few twisted steel girders and sections of the cinder block wall are all that remain standing amidst the charred rubble that once was the Princeton Bowl and Indoor Ice Skating Rink on Route 1. See picture, p. 10.

Meanwhile, a full investigation to determine the cause of the monstrous fire that leveled the $300,000 structure continues under the direction of Mercer County Fire Marshall John Tompsett. Speculation as to the fire's origin centers on the electrical wiring system, but as yet no official report has been made.

Raging out of control for more than two hours, the fire completely destroyed the modern, well-furnished sports center. The entire roof of the rink was ablaze, when the West Windsor fire companies, the first to get the alarm shortly before 11 a.m., arrived on the scene.

The General Acceptance Corporation of Allentown, Pa., which came into ownership of the recreation center a year ago through mortgage foreclosure, indicated that it probably will not rebuild. William Messier, a vice-president of General Acceptance, said the company's final decision would be made after it received the report of the insurance adjusters.

GAC also owns the rest of the complex, including the Prince Theater, which is leased by Budeco, Inc. and several small shops. Fast work by the firemen and a fire wall prevented the flames from spreading to these buildings, but they did suffer smoke and water damage.

Fire Spread Quickly. But there was little more than 100 firemen at the scene could do to save the main building. The blaze, at first, was confined to the skating rink, but it quickly spread to the bowling alleys and cocktail lounge where women were forced to chop holes in the roof and walls to relieve the tremendous gas pressure building up inside.

The heavily waxed and varnished wooden alleys also aid the fire in spreading throughout the one-story structure.

November Seize

There's wind enough
To fly a kite,
If string and hands
Don't freeze up tight.

Freeze is the word there's been ice on the ponds and the birdbaths, and snow within 15 miles of Princeton, and it's only mid-November.

As for the weather for Saturday's football game, Yale and Princeton fans should agree that the forecast of clear and seasonably cold sounds about right. No precipitation expected, right through the weekend.

Supplying enough water to fight the blaze was a further problem. To implement available water facilities, which soon proved inadequate, hoses were laid down through the main street of Windsor Apartment from the way to the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

In addition three 1,500-gallon water tankers were called in to supply more water. As firemen fought the conflagration from every vantage point, including several suspended above the flames on aerial ladders, a maze of hoses ran in every direction across the street.

The Last Ten Pin. The speed with which the fire engulfed the building doomed virtually every piece of equipment down to the last ten pin. Bowling balls, pool tables, the mechanical pinsetters and pinball machines all went, along with most of the liquor supply in the cocktail lounge.

Money from two cash registers and two cases of liquor were saved. Musical instruments belonging to the Playboys, a band playing there nightly, were also rescued.

More important, however, there was no injury or loss of life, and all of the approximately 60 people inside when the fire broke out escaped unhurt. About 30 women were bowling at the time, another five or six people were skating, and 25 children were with a babysitter in a nursery near the rear door.

In his office around 10:45, Fred Zebrowski, manager of the rink, heard a crackling noise, and rushed out to see flames on the ceiling and smoke rapidly filling the rink. With the help of Mrs. Marjorie Salveter, Mill Road, Princeton Junction, a courier at the bowling lanes, he led the whole group out the rear door.

Firemen Wary of Walls. Except for one firefighter who stepped on a spike in the clean up, the firemen also escaped injury. On October 13, five volunteer firemen from Bergen County died while fighting a bowling alley fire when a cinder block wall collapsed on them. Much of the cinder block wall at Princeton Bowl was offset to the point of collapse, but in areas where firemen worked it was carefully pushed over by a tractor.

The blaze was one of the biggest in the Princeton area in several years. It brings to mind the huge fire that leveled the old gymnasium on the Princeton University campus in 1914. Thick black smoke billowing up from the burning building was visible for miles around.

West Windsor Fire Chief Vernon E. Roszel, along with Princeton Junction Chief Wendell Beecher, commanded 17 fire companies who arrived in 1914. Thick black smoke billowing up from the burning building was visible for miles around.

They included Princeton, Princeton Junction, Hamilton, Rindles Hoes, Hightstown, Prospect Heights, Kingston, Mercer, West Windsor, Washington Township, Enterprise.

From Southeast Asia: An eighth-century stucco mask rests in harmony with the contemporary watercolors of a Princeton artist in the Southeast Asia art show on view in McCarter Theatre through December 5.

The show has been planned to complement the lectures on Southeast Asia at the Princeton Adult School, and it has been assembled from the private collections of Princeton residents. The Princeton Art Association and the Adult School have joined with the University Art Museum to offer the exhibit.

The mask, lent by Gillett Griffin, illustrates the sculpture executed in Thailand during that era. A thousand years later, Thailand produced by three rabbings done by Jeanette Atkins.

Geometric batik and bright woven patterns illustrate the textile arts throughout Southeast Asia, and the silks and brocades of the Thai silk weavers represent that phase of the art.

George Ann Gillespie is showing the watercolors she painted during her two-year stay in Cambodia.

Besides Mrs. Gillespie, and Mr. Griffin, donors are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Winters, Mrs. Jeanette Mirsky, Mr. and Mrs. Datus C. Smith, Mrs. Samuel D. TWO OFFERS REPORTED

For Vote in Squibb Case. Lawrence Township committeeman Edward T. Converse has testified that he received two offers designed to influence his vote both ways on the controversial zoning amendment, allowing E. R. Squibb & Sons to build a research complex on Route 206 and Province Line Road in North Lawrence.

In a sworn deposition, taken November 3, Mr. Converse answered questions by David Deitz, attorney for the North Lawrence Citizens' Association, which is presently engaged in a superior court suit challenging the validity of the zoning ordinance.

In the deposition, Mr. Converse said that Bradley S. Kenner of Lawrenceville Road suggested last July "that there might be a political contribution for the Republican Party if we were to vote for Squibb." In response to a question from Mr. Deitz about the amount of the contribution, Mr. Converse replied that "he could not be accurate, but it was a substantial amount, one that was 'probably in the thousands.'"

Later in the deposition, Mr. Converse said he rejected a similar suggestion and offer made by Alex Graham, Carter Road, a member of the North Lawrence Citizens' Association. According to Mr. Converse, Mr. Graham "made a statement that if Squibb were not to come into the township, probably the legal fees they [the Citizens' Association] would save would be contributed to our campaign funds."

Mr. Kehoe, who runs the Shpettska Country Day School in North Lawrence, owns a 10-acre tract of land, which is currently under purchase option by Squibb. "I'd admit I have an interest in Squibb," Mr. Kehoe said, "but that does not transcend my integrity."

Mr. Graham also denied the charge, saying, "I have no comment except that it isn't true, naturally. The only thing I said is what we all said. That it is a shame that all the money that could go to the Republican Party now will be going into legal expenses."

When it was first introduced last June, the zoning amendment caused a wide split both in public opinion and among the three Democratic and two Republican members of the Lawrence Committee. With the two Republicans Daniel W. Williamson and Mr. Converse opposed.

However, after the ordinance was revised, Mr. Converse joined the Democrats in casting a favorable vote and the measure passed by 4-1, with Mr. Williamson still dissenting. Mr. Converse said in his testimony that neither offer had influenced his vote.

WOMAN MUGGED, ROBBED
Police Arrest Suspect, Quick action by Borough police led to the arrest of a juvenile who allegedly mugged and robbed an Elizabeth woman late Monday night in the ladies room of the Pennsylvania Railroad Station across from McCarter Theater.

Police identified the victim as Miss Ellen Gunther, 43. She was struck in the left cheek but not knocked down by her assailant. She later identified the suspect at police headquarters.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that the suspect was a juvenile from New York City. He is now in Mercer County Jail, charged with assault and robbery. Chief McCrohan added that he was held without bail but would probably be released to juvenile authorities.

Miss Gunther told police that she had just attended a concert at McCarter Theater and was on her way to the station to catch a train. As she approached the station — it was a few minutes past 11 — a Negro came up to her and asked her when the next train left. She described him as short, stout and wearing sport clothes.

She went on to say that the youth then asked her if she would go into the ladies room and tell his girl friend to hurry or they would miss the train. As she went Miss Gunther told police, he followed her into the rest room and struck her on the cheek, knocking off her glasses. He grabbed her purse and fled on foot.

Dared, Miss Gunther stumbled outside where she saw a taxi. The driver, Anthony Gaylord Sr., took her to Borough headquarters. The Police rushed down before the train left for the Princeton Junction, and from the description supplied by Miss Gunther, Sgt. Michael Caronvale and Ptl. John J. Below apprehended the suspect hiding near the station.

Miss Gunther's purse and its contents were recovered near the tennis court grounds minus the approximate $10 that Miss Gunther said was in her purse. A similar amount of money was found in the possession of the suspect, Chief McCrohan said. He cited the two officers for their quick and decisive action.

PHARMACY ROBBED

By Three Armed Men. Three Negro men, at least two of them armed with revolvers, robbed the Foyer Pharmacy, 169 Witherspoon Street, Friday night. Morris Foyer, the owner, said that the three took two record albums and checks and a cash amounting to roughly $200.

Police have sketchy descriptions of the three supplied by Mr. Foyer and witnesses, but little else to go on in trying to solve the second hold-up in the Borough in the past three weeks. It is not known whether the robbers escaped on foot or by car.

Mr. Foyer, his 11-year-old son and a young woman clerk were herded into the rear of the store. Two customers also witnessed the holdup.

"As soon as they hit the front door, I went to the phone and called the police," Mr. Foyer said. He added the brightness of the store lights prevented him from seeing where the robbers headed as soon as they left the store.

As Mr. Foyer was calling the police at 9:40, Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt were cruising about a block away in a patrol car. They sped to the scene and burst into the pharmacy, drawn guns, thinking Mr. Foyer said, that the hold-up was possibly still in progress. He told them that the people in the store were customers. Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that because of the victims' excitement, police were at first unable to get a clear account of what happened.

The hold-up started when one of the men asked the clerk for a pack of gum. As she went to get it, she noticed the man had a gun and he motioned her to the rear. At the same time another man grabbed Mr. Foyer and ushered him toward one of the cash registers. On the way, he grabbed a cigar box containing the money and checks. Another number three, meanwhile, emptied another cash register, police said.

Mr. Foyer and witnesses gave police the following descriptions. One was about 4-2, thin, wearing a purple hat and sports coat. He carried a long-barreled revolver. The second was described as having long hair and wearing a suede coat and khaki pants. The third was listed as very tall — about 6-4 — and thin. He was armed with a snub-nosed revolver.

Detective Robert McAvonia, Ptl. Hunter and Ptl. Lenhardt are continuing the investigation.

ROBBERS GET $20

From Kingston Liquor Store. Two men got just what they asked for in a hold-up of the Kingston Wine & Liquor Store at 8:05 Monday night.

Bernard Devido, Jr., 27, of Route 1, was behind the counter alone when the robbers walked in. This is a hold-up," said one, pulling out a gun.

"How much do you want?" asked Mr. Devido. "Twenty dollars," said just what they wanted. The second man, holding the pistol, Mr. Devido handed over $10 to each man and they left. Mr. Devido reported the robbery to Investigator Robert McMahon of the State Police, Princeton Station.

FIRST PHASE: Dr. Lee H. Bristol Jr., Westmaster Choir College president, breaks ground for first phase of a major expansion program the college is undertaking. With him is Dr. Kenneth Charley, chairman of the college's board of trustees. Story in Topics of the Town.

GROUND IS BROKEN

For Westmaster Director, Westmaster Choir College broke ground Monday morning for the construction of a $1,150,000 women's residence hall, the first phase of a major expansion program. Construction will begin on a second building, a library-learning center, in early winter.

Participating in the ceremony were Dr. Lee H. Bristol Jr., president of the college; Dr. Kenneth Charley, chairman of the Board of Trustees; the Rev. Arthur Byers, vice-chairman of the board and secretary of the Princeton Theological Seminary; Miss Mary L. Pieretti, President of the student body; Dr. George Lynn, chairman of the college's music director; and the Rev. Dr. Alva Duba, chaplain.

Dr. Harold Dadds, President Emeritus of Princeton University, represented the academic community and Mayor Henry Patterson the Borough. Edward Bambeck, executive director of the New Jersey State Commission for Higher Education Facilities, represented the state.

The residence hall, designed to suites to allow greater privacy and favorable study conditions, will also contain 12 organ and 22 piano practice laboratories on the bottom floor. It was designed by the architectural firm of Palmer & Bowers, 341 Nassau Street, and will be constructed by William C. Ehret of Trenton.

Coinciding with the construction of the residence hall will be the permanent closing of Franklin Avenue between Walnut and Linden Lanes on Monday. The new re-alignment will probably be ready by the first of the year, according to William Evans, business manager of the Princeton Regional School.

SITE PLAN REVIEW?

Ordinance Up For Hearing. The Township's proposed site plan review ordinance will be up for public hearing Monday night at 8 before Township Committee in Township Hall, and anyone who feels strongly about site plan review is invited to come listen and speak.

This is the ordinance that sets up a five-man Environmental Design Review Committee consisting of professional in architecture, landscape design, city planning and related fields. The Committee would confer with the architect in the earliest stages of his project, helping him work out ways of keeping the trees, preserving the landscape, relating his building so harmoniously to the land around it that all sides are equally pleasing to the eye.

The Design Review Committee would be concerned solely with non-residential construction. Home-owners or developers would not be concerned at all.

The new board would also talk over roads and walks, parking spaces, access to public streets, traffic circulation within the site and so on.

The ordinance does not lay down rigid standards of design and does not confine an architect to a single, rigid style.

It is a so-called "free standing" ordinance, meaning that it is not tied to any other ordinance, such as zoning. The builder would begin by taking his early plans to the building inspector who would tell him whether various variations are required, and send the plans on to the Planning Board and its committee.

BALLERINA: Maxine Lampert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lampert, will be among the performers of the Princeton Regional Ballet entertaining B'nai B'rith members Saturday.

A GIFT OF BOOKS: Almost 500 books and 300 pamphlets on New Jersey history have been presented to the Princeton Historical Society by Alden T. Cottrell of Lawrenceville.

Topics Of The Town

The committee would spend 30 days in review, then send the plans to the Planning Board with its recommendation. The Planning Board would then approve or reject, and if the developer doesn't like the verdict, he can appeal to Township Committee.

The new ordinance has a life-span of three years. At the end of that time, it would be evaluated in the light of the three years' experience.

of their shallow root system, blow over easily, the forester says, and because of their weight, sink easily into the muck. There was never any decay because there was never any oxygen.

"Mid shingles" were made from this cedar for many years. Mr. Cottrell acquired his shavings in the late '30's and kept it, seasoning all the while, for 12 years before he had it milled and fashioned into shelves.

The books on the shelves? "It's a very good working library," the collector says. For example, right here you have a complete 47-volume set of the New Jersey Archives, a project begun in 1880 and not finished yet—the last volume was done in 1949.

"Here's one I think is probably quite rare. It's 'Old Times and Old Monmouth' from 1873. And this 'Life of Colonel William Bradford, the Patriot Printer'—well, only 100 copies of this were printed, back in 1894."

A Crash — Then Success. Rager and enthusiastic about collecting, Mr. Cottrell likes to tell stories about some of his finds.

"See this pamphlet on the Trenton Battle Monument? A barbershop on the corner of Warren Street in Trenton, was hit by a swerving tractor-trailer truck about 15 years ago, and when the truck hit, it smashed into a sheathed window-seat area under the window—probably been boxed in like that for 60 years.

"Well, when the truck crashed through, they found some copies of this pamphlet—must have been there, as I say for about 60 years. See how the spine is all warped from the dampness? They called me up and was there in ten minutes!"

delight a hard-bound 1902 cat catalogue from the James H. Birch carriage company. The catalogue turned up when Mr. Cottrell dug through to the bottom of an old wooden packing warehouse in Burlington.

This firm, by the way, made rickshaws for export to the Far East. Mr. Cottrell chuckles as he reads a prophecy from Squire Birch the carriage maker. "The automobile," he wrote, "is a passing fad."

Mr. Cottrell, during his years as forester with New Jersey, wrote several books himself. "The Story of Ringwood Man" is one of his pamphlets; "The Deserted Village at Allaire" is another, and, of course, a booklet on historic trees in New Jersey.

But his favorite trees, one suspects, are those drowned crests that have provided for so many years the sturdy un-

HOMES ARE ENTERED
On Rowdale, North Road, two homes were entered and ransacked last week, one in the Township and one in the Borough.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Wimerding Jr., 2 Rose Dale Road, was reported entered Monday morning by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lucius Wimerding, III, 9 Russell Road. Police were called to the scene when a maid noticed the front door open, all the drapes drawn, and refused to enter alone.

Last week, the home of Dr. Ralph Belford, North Road, was broken into while Dr. and Mrs. Belford were away. Dr. Belford is head of the surgery department at Princeton Hospital.

Township police said that the entry was made by breaking a small pane of glass in the French doors to the library. The library and dining room were ransacked.

Police said that about $1,000 in bonds as well as other securities, and between $50 and $100 in cash may have been taken. Ptl. Samuel Bianco and Ptl. Marie Musso investigated.

MAYOR NAMES PETERSON
Fred Peterson, victorious Republican in last week's election will take his Borough Council seat early as an appointee filling the vacant seat of Democratic Councilman Enoch Durbin.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson announced Mr. Peterson's appointment this week. Normally, the newly-elected Councilman could not be sworn in until January 1. Mr. Durbin, whose term expires December 31, has been in California for some months.

WE INVITE YOU TO SUPPORT THE PRINCETON YOUTH FUND

- PRINCETON YOUTH CENTER, INC.
- PSEUKAY
- YOUTH ASSOCIATES

FOR THE FIRST TIME

The young people of Princeton have a supervised center, under the guidance of a trained, paid professional director.

Employed by Princeton Youth Center, Inc., the director works in close cooperation with the directors of Pseukay, and Youth Associates to oversee and plan the operations of the Youth Center. In addition, they have the all-out support and help of the student leaders of these organizations, plus the student bodies and governments of Princeton's four area high schools: the Princeton High School, the Princeton Day School, the Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, and the Hun School.

The Princeton Youth Center is also endorsed by three of Princeton's major institutions of higher education: Princeton University, Westminster Choir College, and the Princeton Theological Seminary, all of whom have given their official blessings to the center's program.

That program includes:

Arts and Crafts Instruction

Drama

Judo Lessons

Guitar and Folk Music Sessions

Play Poup and Pool

Regular Meetings of the Three Sponsoring

Organizations

Trips and Tours: Ski, Camp, Shows

And an Informal Program of Recreation, Dances and Parties the Year Round.

Pseukays give future projects a close look

THE PRINCETON YOUTH CENTER PROVIDES Princeton with the first permanent, organized and coordinated headquarters for the activities which engage most of our town's interested and energetic young people.

The Center itself is the outgrowth of a concern voiced over four years ago by an overwhelming majority of high school students and many adults for such a facility. This concern was supported by a poll of Princeton High School students, commissioned by the Council of Community Services and performed by Gallup and Robinson, which found 83 percent of the students citing a teenage lounge as their first need.

Now, with the leasing of the former Borough Engineering Building, Princeton's young people have their lounge. It's more than just a place to "hang out," although it's the most wholesome place in Princeton to do just that.

The Princeton Youth Center is also the place where young people can learn to work and play together with a modicum of restraint and a maximum of responsibility, because it's theirs. It's run by a Board of Directors of high-school age, elected by their peers. There's an adult Board of Trustees, too, whose main purpose is to provide the necessary responsibility, as well as advice and experience when needed. Robert Engerbraten, the full-time adult director, is available for guidance and implementation of the Youth Board's activities.

The Princeton Youth Center is a reality. We have four walls and a roof over our heads after many months, and for some of us, years of dedicated planning and effort.

But there's still a lot of work to do, and our workers need help. They're young, with a lot more energy than many of us, but they do need MONEY.

Topics Of The Week

next Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall. The meeting for November is a week late because of the convention of the state League of Municipalities.

Mayor Patterson also announced that he will re-appoint Gordon Griffin as Borough attorney. Mr. Griffin serves also as Township attorney. The mayor praised Mr. Griffin and said he does "a magnificent job" in serving the Princeton community.

WINDOW BROKEN

At Public Library. A five-foot by three-foot window on the Widgins Street side of the Princeton Public Library, was broken over the weekend by vandals.

Library director Robert Staples reported the incident late Sunday. Police said that no stone or other type of missile was used.

Earlier in the week, J. Todd Simmonds, chairman of the Daily Princetonian, 48 University Place, reported the theft of a 35mm camera valued at $150. He told police that the camera had been taken from the locked office of the newspaper between November 1 and 2.

EXTORTION YOUTHS FINED
to Panace House Disturbance. Two Trenton teenagers were fined $50 each Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodoros T. Tami Jr. after each had pleaded guilty to loitering and creating a disturbance late Saturday night at 7-7-5 Panace House on Nassau Street. Anthony J. Bonelli, 18, and John C. White, 19, had been arrested by manager Alan P. Port to leave "for messing around and causing a disturbance." On the way out, the two allegedly pulled the front door off its hinges.

Both were placed under arrest by P.I. Bernard Lenhardt. Police said that they had been drinking.

In a second case heard in criminal court, Dianne F. was fined $15. She was charged with violating a Borough ordinance when she was caught setting fire to a pile of leaves. She pleaded guilty.

In Traffic Court, Henry S. Dyer, 60, 151 Jefferson Road, was fined $12 for a stop sign violation. John B. Taylor, 17, 10 Harrison Street, paid $10 for driving with a noisy muffler.

TICKETS NAMED CORNER
Picks 37 Votes. A Princeton graduate student studying Japanese history has been elected Corner of Mercer County. Michael Ticklin, 212 John Street, ranked 37 votes and has been officially notified on Monday that he had been elected. Mr. Ticklin received 37 votes. He estimated that there were "at least 20 people in the race, most of whom wrote in their own names."

The office of corner is a casualty to new methods of operation and the demise seems a certainty. In fact, Mr. Ticklin said there is a bill on Governor Hughes' desk right now which would abolish the job. "It looks as if I'll be a race to get to Trenton and be sworn in before they abolish the office," he said.

Mr. Ticklin, however, doesn't see it this way. "I believe it should be continued," he said. "There are a lot of useless jobs that are paid, and they should eliminate these before they start going around eliminating useless jobs that are not paid." Besides," he added, "this gives me and other a chance to play politician for a few days—a chance we wouldn't have otherwise."

"VOICE FROM HOME"

Offered for servicemen: The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will once again offer its "voice from home" program, in which families can tape record a seven-minute message for relatives overseas in military service. Tapes — and plated napkins of the recording session will be supplied and mailed free of charge by the Red Cross.

Mrs. Charles R. Frank, Jr., is supervising arrangements for this year's program. She is a volunteer in the chapter's service to Military Families department. Some 400 letters have already been mailed to families of servicemen and women who live in the Princeton area to notify them of the service. One family, with a son or daughter overseas, who did not receive a letter, is urged to contact the Princeton Red Cross office.

FAMILY PRAISES TALKING LETTERS: Last Christmas Chris Brown (left), 265 Ewing Street, was stationed in Germany. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown and his sister, Ginger, took advantage of a free Red Cross program to send him a tape recording that carried seven minutes of personal Christmas greetings. Once again the Red Cross is offering this "talking letter" service and Princeton residents with relatives in the service abroad are urged to tape their personal messages as the Browns did last fall.

Families are invited to contact the recording service at 924-2461 to reserve a recording period. The taping facilities will be open: from 10 to 5 on Saturday, November 25, and Saturday, December 2; from 7 to 9 on Friday, November 24, Thursday, November 16, and Friday, December 1; and from 1 to 5 on Sunday, November 26, and Sunday, December 3.

The entire family is invited to the recording session. Recipients of the "talking letter" will be able to record similar letters for transmission back to the States.

HOSPITAL SETS SIGHTS

On Fund Drive: Good Second Hospital will open its second annual fund drive Thursday, November 16, with hopes of raising $175,000. The money is badly needed by the hospital to make this year's payment on the $1,750,000 borrowed to finance completion of the new annex and installation of up-to-date laboratory equipment.

Richard W. Baker, Jr., a member of the non-profit hospital's board of trustees, has been named chairman of the capital fund drive. Mr. Baker, a vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Company, said this year's campaign "will frankly and dramatically focus on the need of the hospital for at least $175,000 to keep the doors open till the nearly completed J Building and the coronary care unit."

There are a lot of good cars you can get for $3400.
This is two of them.*

If you don't happen to need two cars, there's only one thing that you need less. One car that costs as much as two cars.

Unless you want to pay a lot of money for a lot of horsepower that you'll never use. There's only one state in the country where you can go faster than a Volkswagen—Nevada. No speed limit—they're big gamblers out there.

The only extra horsepower you really need is for all those power gadgets. Which you need to drive a car that size. Which has to be that size to hold all those horses.

All of which also makes the average car cost almost as much to run as two Volkswagens. Considering a VW gets as much as 27 miles to a gallon of gas.

But if you're still not sold on the idea of two bugs for the price of one beast, why not take advantage of this special introductory offer, one Volkswagen for half the price of two.

 Princeton Township's population has increased by 26.8% to 13,200, while the Borough's has risen 8.2% to 12,650 since the 1960 census, according to figures released by the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Mercer County population is now more than 300,000, while the state has gained more than a million over the last seven years. The county's percentage increase of 15.7 falls below the overall statewide figure of 16.7%. Mercer now has 301,130 persons and New Jersey 7,676,460.

East Windsor Township had the largest percent gain of any municipality in the state; its population soared 191.1% from 2,298 to 6,698. Other areas which scored impressive gains were West Windsor, 16.9% to 6,490; Hightstown, 38.5% to 5,980; Lawrence Township, 35.5% to 18,516; and Hopewell Township, 28.5% to 10,020.

Hopewell Borough was up 13.6% to 2,190, and Kingston Borough 7.6% to 2,230. Trenton continued its decline from the previous decade registering a loss of 2.8% to 110,980 compared to 114,167 in 1960. It was the only one of the county's 15 municipalities showing a loss.

On the county level, Ocean was first with an increase of 45.9%, and Burlington second with 36.5%. The most urbanized and densely populated of all states, New Jersey is eighth nationally in population.

TEENS PLAN RAKE-UP

For Autumn Leaves. Members of Youth Associates Club will hold a "rake-up" on Sunday, November 26. Plans call for the teenagers to work in teams on as many lawns as possible to raise funds for club activities.

The number to call to book your lawn is 924-6016, or 924-3074, after the evening. Charges will be $1 and up per lawn, according to Paul Littman, club leader.

CLUB SOLVES PROBLEMS
 On University Computer. Princeton High School students are learning how to use computers through the cooperation of high school and University faculty members. The students — about 20 in number — are members of a computer club that meets weekly at the high school and also attends lecture series at the University.

The students are learning FORTRAN, a computer language which permits them to solve numerical problems on the University's IBM 360 Model 50 computer.

Computer Club was the creation of Rold Butler, director of Princeton's Computer Center, who has assisted in the teaching duties at the group's weekly meeting since its formation a year ago. He is aided by two high school faculty members: math teacher Gilbert Mortensen and data-processing instructor William E. Bur.

Mr. Butler feels that computer instruction at the high school level "provides the opportunity for students to learn computer use at a time when they are not under severe collegiate academic pressures."

Using the Princeton computer involves three basic steps for club members: defining the problem in FORTRAN language, preparing punch cards on which the problem is laid out for the computer and turning the cards over to a computer operator at the University's Engineering Quadrangle. The procedure is simple as the computer is simple as the computer.

ART In Princeton

ASIAN ART ON VIEW
At McCarter Theatre, The New of Southeast Asian Art at McCarter Theatre will run through December 7.
It has been presented by the Asian Art Association to coincide with the Adult Education lectures on Art and Culture in Southeast Asia, the last of which, "The Shimmering World," is scheduled for Thursday by Dr. Ruby Orton of Queens College.

As an interesting and informative background for the lectures and as a colorful decoration of the theatre walls, the show was chosen and arranged with a variety of objects, paintings, watercolors, rubbings and materials all on loan from Princetonians.

A contemporary Balinese artist has set the tone by portraying the activity of village life, the rice planting and harvest, the rampart looking growth. His style is not pen-ing in color or technique but descriptive and often entertaining in expression.

George Ann Gillespie of Princeton lived in Cambodia and there recorded in watercolor her sensitive feeling for the landscape and local scenes.
Rubbings from Bangkok reflects show graceful figures in altitudes of dance or prayer and the subject of a charming rubbing by Jeanette Atkins could certainly have been the inspiration for "Run, Little Liza, Run, Little Liza" in the King and I.

Materials from the various countries make a handsome display and show much individuality in design, color and texture. The Thai silk is heavy and deeply brilliant, the borders more muted and sharp in pattern and one of our favorites is an ikat, tie-dyed hanging from Cambodia which is as much fun as an amusement park full of those same characters and elephants.

Figures, masks, pottery and fragments, all tastefully arranged by Gillette Griffin, Mrs.
Hedi Backlin-Landon and Mrs.
Suzanne Waterman, help to complete the Southeast Asian display.

November show at the Present Day Club is by the Princeton Graphic Workshop and includes graphics by the directors, Carol Stoddard and Judith Brooklyn, and Judith Brodsky,
New York City. Judith Brodsky is the new assistant from Call 100 has chosen the work of fornia, and 12 other artists in making a good the workshop group. Helga
Nergaard, Margaret Kennard
Kay, Ann Gross, Helen are Trudy Gluckberg, vases and each to press the point. Be-Ruth Ann Willard, Ken Wilson, John Nephthar, Betty Zeiler and Marie Surken.
The Workshop opened in 1966
to provide a working atelier with all the equipment for the work of the day and at night classes, changing exhibitions of foreign and domestic prints, and most important, the overall stimulation of ideas and a experimentation of ideas all in this show there are prints of many types, techniques and content.

Mrs. Stoddard's "Carnegie"
we appreciate for its thorough conception and execution and particularly for its strong characterization of the bird, no alert as the stalker, if not the stalked. Her lithograph mode study has the same feeling for gesture in a more casual medium. Judith Brodsky uses all sorts of techniques and effects in "Yellow Moon"; embossed figures, color, forms, details, all holding fast in design, and next to this is a less disturbing, quietly controlled "Symbols and Plane."

Jan Swearer moves forms and color weirdly in "Primeval Forms" and in underwater subjects there is a nice contrast in the very individual prints, "Divers," by Marie Surken and "Beneath the Waters," by Margaret Kennard Johnston. We liked especially the grainy woodcuts by Trudy Gluckberg, subtly embossed flower print by Ruth Ann Willard and Ann Gross' "La Dolce Vita" which "carried" to a lady viewer who looked at its separate vignettes and murmured, "No, a very nice neighborhood, is it?"

From a workshop open frequently come lots of ideas which are here to see this month.

John Brundson, artist and teacher, has written a book
"The Techniques of Etching and Engraving" published in London, 1965. Of the three, he is the out and out abstract artist and he has the symbolic forms with very few but strong dark colors in composition.

Julian Trevalyan, the nephew of the historian G. M. Trevalyan, works on the Thames at Hammersmith. He exhibited in the thirties with the English
prints, "Divers," by Marie
Group of Surrealists, is an Honorary Fellow of the Royal College and Tutor of Engraving.
His work is the most fun
to see, perhaps because it recalls favorite scenes in Italy and England.

He has been inspired by the view of the Thames out of his studio window, the activity of the Piazza Signoria, the clatter of the Pitt Palace and the charms of Florentine villas and villages. His combination of realism and abstraction he has put into these interpretations in appropriate sense of color and excitement.

We're not banking on it. That's why the Trimline® phone is packed with practical new ideas—like pushbuttons that come to you.

The lighted Touch-Tone® pushbuttons are right in the palm of your hand when you pick up the phone. And just beneath them, another new idea: the recall button that lets you make a second call without first reaching to hang up. Just press the recall button... and you've got a dial tone.

You can put a Trimline phone in handy new locations—on the side of a kitchen cabinet, or under a counter—because you don't need to use the base to dial. The buttons are in the handset.

A new Trimline phone costs just pennies a day—and there's no extra charge for color. It's available in wall and table models, with either a standard dial or the new Touch-Tone pushbuttons that let you "dial" twice as fast. And the additional Touch-Tone charge covers all phones on your line.

Just call your Telephone Business Office to order the new Trimline phone. It's the only telephone ever to be selected for the permanent design collection in New York's Museum of Modern Art. Looks alone might not sell a new phone. But they sure don't hurt.

Question Of The Week

Question: Generally speaking, who would you say are more likely to forgive and forget men or women?

Steve Bradley, student at Princeton Theological Seminary. Since most women are mothers and because most mothers are loving and forgiving, I'd say women.

Dale Bilbrey, student at Princeton Theological Seminary. I'd say men. Women are more competitive because of the role they are cast in, in society. They have to be more competitive to survive. I think this tends to make them less forgiving.

Mrs. Kareo Yaguda, Clearview Avenue, housewife, would say men—they don't carry a grudge as long as a woman. I don't think they like to fight as much as women do.

Reo Turvey, Trenton, mail carrier for Princeton Post Office. I think women forget but men are better natured and more kind hearted than women. They want to get pretty mean when they want to.

Miss Diana Yaffa, 318 Ewing Street, Princeton. I think men are more willing to forgive and forget because women do such stupid things sometimes that men just have to forgive and forget. They have no choice!

Mrs. William A. Stuart, West Windsor Township, secretary. Men don't tend to be quite as petty as women or—and I'm leaning for a better word than "petty"—I just feel that men are, generally, bigger people than women.

Mrs. James P. Griffield, 1 Meadowbrook Drive, housewife. Probably men, I think probably because they have more important things to do.

Charles Higdon, Princeton Pike, teacher. Men. Women never forgive! That's a foregone conclusion.

Mrs. Harry Bremer, 32 Caldwell Drive, housewife. I think women, just because they are more romantic than men.

Mrs. Julia Winslow, Mountain Avenue, housewife. Men. I think women are more spiteful, and they take things more personally. I don't think they are as men are. I also think men have other things to worry about.

Clarence Waters, Philadelphia, truck driver for Acme Markets. I think men have a tendency to forgive and forget more readily than women. I don't believe they hold a grudge as long. I'd say women have a sixth sense whereas men have only five.

Mrs. Melvin Finnau, Varsity Avenue, Penn Neck, nurse. That's a hard one. I know in our home we do a little bit of each, so neither one gives in more than the other.

Bill White, Trenton, butcher for Acme Market in Princeton. Well, to be honest about it, I believe women are and I've had quite a bit of dealing with women. Let's just say in my experiences I've found women more apt to forgive and forget. I don't know why this is, other than I feel that women don't like to carry a grudge.

Mrs. George L. Scott, 181 Spruce Circle, housewife. I think women, although I know a lot of men who forgive easily. But overall, I would say women are more likely to forgive and forget. Mostly, I think women give in to a man whenever a family problem comes up. They want to run their homes as smoothly as possible.

er solves the problem in five or six seconds.
Two programs limit the expansion of the club to other nearby high schools. The first is the scarcity of leghump equipment and the second is the need for delivering the completed punch cards to the Engineering Quadrangle.

Mr. Bulter envisages the installation of computer consoles in Princeton area high schools and the connection of these consoles—via telephone lines—to the University's new IBM 360 Model 67 computer. Such "remote" consoles would permit an enormous growth in high school computer instruction.

BOYCHOIR TO TOUR

For Six Weeks, The Columbus Boychoir has begun its fall concert tour of the Eastern United States. In the next six weeks the choral group will present 32 concerts in 17 states and three Canadian provinces. Featured in the fall program is the one act Mozart opera Basilio and Battelone, presented with sets and 18th century costumes. Performing with the Boychoir are several Princeton area residents: Stephen Rhee, Jonathan Rhine, and Stephen Schmidt and Stephen Marzell from Princeton; Stephen Barczay of TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. No other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

CAN TIGERS REPEAT?

Yale remains the favorite. One of the most interesting Yale-Princeton games of the 95-year-old series will be played Saturday in Palmer Stadium as upwards of 40,000 partisans on both sides watch to learn which team is for real. The 1:30 kickoff will be preceded by three football and three soccer games on nearby fields, providing more than six continuous hours of traditional fall athletic entertainment.

In their last five Ivy League games, the Elis have started and feathered Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Penn, amassing a total of 197 points to 51 for the opposition. In most cases, victory has clearly been theirs before the end of the first quarter.

Until last weekend, expectations were that Princeton might fare no better against the Blue than it did against Cornell, to which its last in a hurricane of touchdowns, 47 to 13. At Cambridge, however, the Tigers produced what must rank—on a basis of the size of the score—as their most astounding upset of the Caldwell Colman era that is now nearly a quarter-century old.

Nothing that happened Saturday at Cambridge dims the memory of the fabulous 17-0 defeat of nationally-ranked Pennsylvania at Franklin Field in 1946. The Tigers' unexpected triumph also brought to mind the 19 to 13 conquest of favored Dartmouth in 1939; the 26 to 14 win over a big, fast Navy eleven at Annapolis in 1934; and the day in 1951 that Royce Flippin scored all three touchdowns to upend Yale, 21-14, in the Bowl.

Margie Hard to Believe. The point being made is that at no time in the past has Princeton won a game in which its opponent was a unanimous favorite by a score approaching the 45-to-6 defeat of Harvard on Saturday. That would go, of course, for upsets!

Ivy League Forecast

dating well back before World War II, including the 28-0-0 victory over Rose Bowl-bound Columbia in 1933 and the fabled 21-18 victory over Chicago in 1921.

Very possibly, it was Harvard coach John Yovessis, after dreaming for a year of how he hoped he would feel best defined the reason for that shocking score. "In the ten years I have been in the Ivy League," he said, "I have never before seen a team play four full quarters of flawless football."

the services of their ranking tailback, Bob Weber, and two of their regular offensive linemen, guard Joe Freschi and tackle Bruce Eckman — a major question for this Saturday's meeting with Yale. Can they now defeat an Eli eleven which of the most impressive in Ivy history, one so powerful in back-to-back meetings with Cornell and Dartmouth it scored four times against each of these opponents in the first 15 minutes?

Yale is not a one-man team, but it is Brian Dowling's great ability as a quarterback that has been the major factor in the Bulldogs' ability to rip off live-one-sided victories after years in opening-game defeat by Holy Cross. Oddly, Dowling did not hit 50% of his passes until four full quarters of flawless performance rattled Penn last weekend. He frequently carries in option roll-outs, is adept at bootlegging and invariably provides lightning field generalship.

QUICK LOOK AT YALE

OFFENSE: Powerful and diversified. Has averaged 37 points per game. Leads Ivy League with 141 yards average better than 400 per game.

DEFENSE: Also tops in Ivy League — less than 200 per game. Standouts are Captain Red Watson, Alvin ed, tackle Glenn Greenberg, Alvin middle guard Tom Schmidt.

CHIEF ASSAULT: Brian Dowling's triple-threat quarterbacking: run, pass, option, play selection.

CHIEF PROBLEMS: Biological fact of playing away from home against opponent it has not defeated in seven years.

Working in the same backfield are halfbacks Calvin Hill, a 200-pound junior who set off the Princeton game last year with an injury, and Jim Fisher, often a target on Dowling's passes. Fullback Don Barrows, the team's leading rusher for the past two seasons, rounds out the starting quartet, but Coach Carmen Cozza tends to shuttle in other ball carriers with considerable regularity.

Bruce Weinstein, a 6-6, 230-lb. split end, is the Elis' top pass receiver, while sophomore Lew Rowley, 6-5, operates at tight end. On both offense and defense, the Vales are big, fast and blessed with good reserves. They began the season with an all-time high in Ivy League personnel records of 35 lettermen returning.

A Long Look Back. It has been seven years since Yale last defeated Princeton in football, the string of defeats including two in the Bowl that have been particularly galling. In 1964, the Blue was unbeaten until Cosmo Iacavazzi's eventful 6 for 9 team won 33 to 14 while last year, the Elis had an apparent 7-6 triumph wrapped up only to lose on a blocked kick late in the fourth period.

Not in the current decade have the Bulldogs won here, their triumph coming in 1959 by 38 to 20. The following year, when they won them all, and last won an Ivy title, it was a 42-23 decision at New Haven. Yale leads in the series, 42 to 37 with ten ties, but the Tigers

UNINVITED GUEST: Princeton safetiesman Bruce Wayne (18) intrudes on touchdown pass Harvard quarterback Dick Zimmerman intended for end Fritz Reed, anticipating catch behind the goal line. THE ROUT WAS COMPLETE

As Defense Came of Age. Three times while Harvard was still in the ball game Saturday, in lost possession deep in Princeton territory. Had it scored on each occasion, the Crimson might still have been defeated by something like six touchdowns to three or four, because it never could contain the Princeton single wing. As it was, a goal-line fumble and two interceptions cooled off the home team completely, and the young, often troubled Tiger defense came of age—even to the extent of providing the final two touchdowns in the form of blocked punts.

If Ellis Moore hit the head lines with five record-breaking touchdowns (see picture and caption, page 25) vs. Bruce Wayne who deserved equal credit for his play on the defensive platoon. Returning to his backfield position after an absence of three weeks with a broken jaw, Wayne was the author of two second-period turnovers that contributed heavily to the authority with which the Tigers ran the game.

Two minutes after the period began, quarterback Ric Zimmerman raced nine yards into the end zone, but no Princeton bothered to tackle him as he crossed the goal line. Linebacker Craig Stone won the race among the white-jerseyed Tigers to fall on the ball which Wayne had neatly punched out of Zimmerman's grasp on the four.

A 47-yard punt by Rich Bracken, standing in his end zone, was followed by a Harvard drive that reached the Princeton eight. Wayne then picked off a Zimmerman pass for which end Fritz Reed had already leaped into the air (picture, page 23) and the Crimson did not threaten again in the half.

Just as the third quarter was ending, with Harvard on the Princeton 10 and trailing, 25-6, Zimmerman again found Wayne as his nemesis. The Tiger safetiesman intercepted on his ten-yard line and ran all the way to the Harvard eight before he was tackled. Three plays later, Moore hit the end zone for the fourth time. If four players left the game (see 22-6) and the contest was with injuries. Captain Lee beyond the home team's recall. Hitchner and defensive back. MERCEDES-BENZ introduces

The Invisible Model Changeover

We've passed half of this year's Mercedes-Benz 250S next to half of next year's 250S. The Changeover is invisible.

The NEW '68 MERCEDES-BENZ Models Are Here—And The '67 Models Aren't Out Of Date. . . Because You Can Hardly Tell The Two Apart.

If you own a current or recent Mercedes-Benz, the invisible model changeover means you'll be spared watching your car drop several hundred dollars in value overnight. And you won't feel as if you're suddenly stuck with last year's fashion. CHANCE FOR MORE THAN CHANGE'S SAKE. Instead of lumping all its changes into one big artificial spree over fall, Mercedes-Benz simply adds them to the regular model run whenever the engineering staff decides them ready. The '68 Mercedes-Benz models differ from the '67's only in a handful of technical modifications made simply to meet the letter of Federal regulations that apply to all new domestic and foreign-built cars sold in the U.S. THAT'S ALL. No styling changes to make you think the cars are all-new.

GOING ABROAD

Orders for January production of all Mercedes-Benz now being accepted. Please place your orders early! We will handle all details for you.

There are 13 Mercedes-Benz models, ranging from $25,582 to $44,179 and from limousines to sports to economy cars. Visit Autobahn Motors soon for a test drive of the world's finest motor car . . . and a firsthand look at the invisible model changeover. Our selection is second-to-none in the New Jersey-New York-Pennsylvania area.

PIS NIPS NOTRE DAME
Final Saturday at Madison.
In two of the past three weeks,
the Princeton High School football team has displayed one of the hallmarks of a championship team — the ability to come from behind. The Little Tigers' most recent heroes were staged in the waning minutes against Notre Dame. Down 13 to 7, Thom Yeager, on a do-or-die fourth down situation with the goal line nine yards away, fired a TD pass to Buzz Adams. Chris Gartner then coolly kicked the extra point that gave the Blue and White a 14 record and the mythical Mercer County Championship.

Now only Madison stands in the way of an 81 log which would be Coach Dick Wood's best in the six years he has been directing the team. The game will be played Saturday at 2 at Madison.

Wood reported that while Madison did not start off the season well, it has been improving. Its most recent start, Madison defeated Caldwell, 24-18. Two weeks ago, Wood watched while Madison upended Ayraville, 31-13.

"Their quarterback ran and passes a great deal. In fact, he seems to be most of the offense for Madison," commented Wood, who added the same team also should make use of some good receivers.

Defensively, Madison lines up like the Notre Dame. "They use the very same defense we ran up against last MADDEN HELPS SET UP WINNING PIS TD: With defense unexpectedly stalling them in the face against Notre Dame Saturday, the Little Tigers were aided on their winning touchdown drive by such plays as this. week; they are going to be harder to defend than other teams we've faced," said Wood.

Irish Defense Tough. Opposite Notre Dame Saturday, PIS ran into a defensive unit Wood tagged the best he has seen the Irish employ all year. "We weren't quite as sharp as we have been before, but you can't take it away from Notre Dame. They played a good game; it's the best game I've seen them play this year."

Overall, the contest was a prodding defensive struggle, punctuated by sudden offensive thrusts. After a desultory first period, Notre Dame had the better of it in the second quarter, driving as far as the nine. But the visiting Blue and White stifled and a field goal attempt on fourth down and was low and wide.

PIS still couldn't move. But then with 1:23 left in the half a heads up play by Charlie Madden gave the Little Tigers a break. The ball came alive and responded with stunning force.

It started when Matt Alexander's punt for Princeton was blocked by the Irish's Victor Sands. The ball was picked out of the air by Madden, who was blocked and he returned it to the ND 43.

Two thrusts on the ground by Bill Walstead carried to the 32 with 21 seconds remaining. Walstead then passed to end Jay Springer to the 10. Yoder fired the next aerial, also to Springer, for the TD. Gartner converted.

Notre Dame dominated the second half. Early in the fourth period the Irish, staying on the ground and calling on their fullback Al Maciel on virtually every play, drove 74 yards in 14 plays. Quarterback Mike Drulis pushed over from the end for the score.

ND Scores Again. Less than three minutes later ND tallied again. Defensive lineman a Dominick Alfonso set it up by intercepting a Walstead pass and running to the PIS 30. A personal foul on the play allowed Princeton moved the ball to the 15. On the next play, Maciel, holding the ball high over his head and faking a pass, ran the remaining distance for the score. It was the second time in the half Maciel had used his passing mule to trick the PIS. A disgruntled PIS player, who had growled, "He can't throw the ball all year."

Maciel's try for the extra point was blocked by Alexander and Houston Webster crashing through from their line-backer positions. Almost seven minutes remained but the momentum had switched decidedly to the Irish. Many PIS followers would have given their team much of credit for coming back. Adams, hurt on the last play of the half, but returned the kickoff to the 30. In two carries, Walstead got one first down. Adams got another to the 31. Then on a big play Madden broke to the middle and near by got clear before being hauled down to the 13.

Same Old Pass Play. Three plays later four yards. The winning aerial that followed was the same delayed pass that PIS had used to score twice against East Brunswick and against Steiner last week. Adams was so isolated that he had his two feet planted inside the goal line and didn't move. He just waited there for the ball.

"That's should have been worn out many games ago," said Wood. "It was the first time I saw him play since Notre Dame and I think we lulled them to sleep."

Wood had high praise for Gartner who kicked his 21st cut of 25 PAT attempts. "It was a crucial point and he knew it," said Wood. "But he went out there just as cool and calm as he could be."

"It's real cool — a real student of the game. Whenever we get a drive going, he goes to the sidelines and starts looking up. He's always ready," Gartner and Chris Smith, who holds the ball, are both juniors.

Of the entire team, Wood said, "The never give up. They knew what they had to do and that they could do it. That's the important thing. Even when we bogged down on that fourth and seven, they were still able to pull it out."

Defensively, Wood cited the play of Jim McEwen and Jerry Fabian. It was Fabian who caught up during the game on fourth down when Notre Dame tried frantically to score again.

Offensively, Wood mentioned Madden. "Charlie not only ran the ball well, but his blocking was good, too."

HUN, GEORGE TIE 7-7
Hun Can Still Win Too
"This aren't great. All you can say for them is they are better than losing." So commented Hun coach Hawley Waterman on Saturday's showdown game with George School, which was supposed to decide the championship of the Penn-Jersey League. Instead, in a bruising defensive contest, both teams battled to a 7-7 tie, and as a result, just who will wear the league crown has now come down to the final week.

Both Hun and George have one game left, with Hun having the easier time of it with Pennington 14-0 than George which must play a tough (42) Bryn Athyn eleven. If Hun should win and George lose the Red and Black would capture the championship by one point. Should Hun defeat George tie, the two would end up in a tie for the title. "The nice thing about it," Bryn Athyn is a tough team," said Waterman. He added a footnote in commenting that the Quakers are a church-affiliated school and they have a tradition that says a Bryn Athyn player can't go to heaven if he doesn't beat George School as a senior.

From past experiences, Waterman is not regarding Pennington's victory, although it is lost in its last outing to Bryn Athyn, 28-6. In that game, Waterman noted the Red Raiders had six varsity players out for one season or another. Then he added: "This is a year-in, year-out, wind-up the season type of game. They'll be running from every type of formation there is."

He ended by saying he was sure Poore "will come up with something like that of interest." He always drew Pennington coach Harold Poore, the dean of all coaches in the Delaware Valley is winding up his last season.

EAGLES vs. SAINTS

HE KEWROTE THE BOOK: The five touchdowns that sophomore fullback Ellis Moore scored against Harvard set Ivy records for most TD's and most points in one game — both of which have since been equaled by another Tiger fullback, made four touchdowns and an extra point against Cornell in 1935. Moore also erased the name of seven Princeton players from the Tiger record books for having crossed the goal line four times — those in the modern era including Agnew, Homer Smith '53, Jack Davison '50, Les Kaufman '36 and Ed Whitmer '30.

Hon Scores Early. Against an overflow home crowd that included those attending parents conference day, Hun stunned favored George School when, on the game's first play from scrimmage, quarterback Ken Kelly hit Don Silverson with a pass that carried 30 yards to the Cougars' 30. Four plays later, Kelly juggled the ball in from 13 yards out, sweeping his right end, John Myers converted.

A poor kick set up the visitors' lone score just before the half ended. Starting from the Hun 30, George School soon found itself faced with a fourth and six from the 24 and a costly off-side penalty against it. Hun kept the drive alive. After George halfback Doug Stevens had scored from five yards out, another penalty cost Hun a possible one-point victory.

Warner Johnson's first attempt to tie the score was wide, but Hun was detected on the side. On his second attempt, Johnson split the uprights with 25 seconds remaining in the half. Penalties did it," said Waterman later.

In the second half, defense-minded Hun held George to three first downs. Hun, in turn, had one good shot to pull it off. Late in the game, Hun linebacker Peter Maggio intercepted a pass and returned it to the George School 20.

From a first and 10 from the seven, Hun was able to grind out only two yards in three plays against the big George line, led by 223-pound tackle Stuart Steelman. It was fourth and big and formidable opponents kick-off is set for 2 p.m. at Morrisstown.

Showing only two wins against five defeats to date, the latest loss, 24-6, coming against a monstrous Pingry squad last Friday, the Panthers will again have to push to end their first varsity season on a winning note. Morrisown is no pushover, either; its record is the reverse of PDS' at 5-2.

Although suffering their worst beating of the season, the PDS players never quit against a team that had the size of the Princeton freshmen squad. Pingry, with 350 boys in its upper three grades alone, is out of PDS' league, and this game was the first and last between the two.

schools on the varsity level.
Despite its size, Pingry led the going along in the first half, and could only push across one score. The Panthers halved its one drive inside their 10-yard line, and thwarted two others when Bill Rigot intercepted a pass and Jack Kilgore recovered a fumble on the PDS 11 on a punt return.

The Pingry defense, however, was a little bit out of all,
and PDS did not threaten seriously until just a couple of minutes remained in the half. Rigot hit halfback Craig Page with a long ball from the middle, and Page spun off several tacklers driving to the Pingry 12. The scoring chance was shortlived as Rigot's next pass aimed for John Claghen was intercepted.

The second half was a different story as Pingry's defense fence began to click, and it rolled up two tallies in the third period to lead 20-6. It scored twice more in the fourth sizing action as the Panther recovered.

PDS' tally was set up when Abby Adams recovered a fumble on the Pingry 18. Two passes from Rigot, one to Claghen, the other to Page, brought the ball to the eight-yard line. Then with half down on the three, Rigot started to throw a jump pass.
The middle, but seeing no PDS receiver, pitched back to Claghen who circled right end for the score.

Next year in place of Pingry
the Panthers hopefully will have an opponent more their size. Desire can go just so far in moving mountains.

CONOVER FINISHES FIRST
in Midget Football. Scoring two touchdowns in the final quarter, Nassau Conover beat Princeton Fuel Oil, 12-6, and finished the Midget Football championship. The team will be awarded the TOWN TOPICS trophy in ceremonies Saturday, December 9.

A crowd of nearly 400 saw Conover's Kevin J. Tylus pass for one touchdown and set up the other with a 50-yard run

following a pass interception.
Good hard defensive play by both lines held each offense in check for the better part of three periods. Conover had one scoring threat in the first half, when it rushed Princeton Fuel's four-yard line, but it could not manage to score.

Near the end of the third quarter, Tylus connected on a 50-yard pass play with Mark
Baldwin to the Oilers 26. Tony Bailey ran the ball down to the eight, and Tylus hit Baldwin for Conover's first score.
The Oilers' next series of downs, Tylus picked off a pass thrown by Joe Gallo and ran it down to the other two-yard line, before Dave Black forced him out of bounds.
Bailey ran the ball over for the second score. The deter-sive work of Dave Donahue, Dave Harwood and Scott
Marsh never let the Oilers cross the Conover 20-yard line. A pass from Gallo to John McNulty brought the Oilers to the Conover 26, but their drive stalled there.

In the other game Bobby King, scored four touchdowns, one on a 50-yard run, to lead
the U-Store over winless Matthews Construction, 36-6. The running of Joe McGuinn and Lev Lewis set up three of King's touchdowns. Lewis almost had another touchdown on a punt return.
Final standings: Nassau
Conover, first, 6-0; Princeton Fuel and the U-Store, tied for second, 4-2; and Matthews, fourth, 0-6.

AEC RENEWS CONTRACTS
At Two Princeton Plants.
Operating contracts at two major Princeton research facilities, the Princeton-Pennsylvania Accelerator and the Plasma Physics Laboratory, have been renewed by the Atomic Energy Commission. The contracts will run until September 30, 1972.

The accelerator, featuring the highest intensity of any three billion volt proton accelerator in existence, began operation in 1963. The activities of the accelerator are guided by a committee of faculty and administrative representatives of Princeton and Pennsylvania universities. Dr. Lyman Spitzer Jr. is committee chairman and Dr. Milton G. White directs the project activities.

Operating since 1951, the Plasma Physics Laboratory is engaged in fusion research. Fusion is the combining of light atomic nuclei to produce energy as compared to fission or the splitting of heavy atomic nuclei. It is considered by many scientists to be the ultimate answer to power generation in this country, as the source of fuel will be seawater. Dr. Melvin G. Gottlieb is the laboratory director.

HOUSE: Miss Debra Barnes of Kansas will greet those attending the open house at Coleman Oldsmobile in Trenton Saturday.

To accommodate the expanding membership, plus greater lecture, movie and exhibit facilities. Plans are underway to break down the organization into several small groups each with a particular interest such as picture taking, picture processing, shows and contests, etc.

The workshop needs persons with an interest in organization, to direct these various groups. The only requirement would be a few extra hours a month in addition to the normal club activity.

Those wishing to join should write to Alfred Willis, 60 Clearview Avenue. After November 30, enrollment will have to be deferred to a later date, if continues at its present rate.

Correction
In last week's election story, the word "erase" was loosely to describe the change status in the amended Miss America Plan. Certain Borough streets, Cleveland, Hodge and Lafayette were amended down in width from "arterial" to "collector" roads. The link of Bayard with Alexander also remains on the map as a possibility.

Lawfulness Decried.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The draft law may or may not be a good law, but it is a law of the land and must be obeyed.

I witnessed throughout Dr. Spock's speech on November 3 as he exhorted the many young people present to burn their draft cards, praised the conscientious objectors, and stated his views on civil liberties. All this amid clapping and yelling and cheering.

I am a born and bred Republican and do not admire

Mr. Johnson, but he is the President of the U.S. and his office should be held in respect. Dr. Spock spoke in the most sneering and sarcastic manner, again amid cheering as almost bordering on anarchy.

It was too bad for Dr. Jacobs and for those who share his views on Vietnam to appear on the same program, for it did not help Dr. Jacobs' cause.

Some one said, "If you burn your draft card, you should burn your American birth certificate with it."

of the Princeton Communists wishes to express its opposition to the pending legislation in the New Jersey Assembly regarding the spending of tax dollars for the support of non-public schools. The League is opposed to Assembly Bill 113, which provides for the purchase and loan of text books to private school pupils at $10 per year, per child.

The League of Women Voters of New Jersey is committed to "support state financial measures to improve and equalize opportunities for public elementary and secondary education." The League must oppose when the Legislature diverts its attention from its constitutional requirement to strengthen and improve the public schools and instead undertake expensive programs to support non-public schools.

We urge the citizens of the Princeton Community to write to their legislators in Trenton and oppose these two bills.

Movies—Unfair to Us Kids.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I have written in to talk about the movie theaters in Princeton. I am tired of the same movie being shown there, theaters. And what's more, if they are different movies, they are "Sugared" for mature adult audiences only.

I think this is very unfair to the younger citizens of Princeton who want to go out with their parents to a movie on a Saturday (and it is a "Mature audience" movie, myself have had this experience in the past. If something isn't done about this, it might be necessary to have to show driver's license or your birth certificate before going to a movie.

In the future, I'd like to see something done about this. If you don't nip this situation in the bud, they will have to eliminate children's prices at the theaters. I am very much annoyed at this fact and I'm sure many other people my age are, too. I'd like to see something done about this or parents are going to be the only ones who will see movies in this town.

Help for a Veteran.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am a handicapped veteran, living on a small pension. My vision and hearing are leaving me. The doctors tell me there is nothing they can do. Not wanting to worry about it, I have made projects to keep busy with, in an effort to forget my defects.

One of my projects is the history of the calendar. I am collecting real old calendars to use as illustrations and have four that are 1882, 1883, 1887, 1896 and looking for others.

While I am collecting old post cards, book marks and Reward of Merit cards, most of my projects concern histories of holidays like Easter, Halloween and St. Valentine's Day. To me, it is interesting. I am collecting real old valentines to use as illustrations and plan to give them to a museum when I finish.

I have two valentines that are over 125 years old and four that are over 95 years old and a few dating back to 1893, but on my limited funds, I am having a hard time getting better reproduction of real old valentines.

I was in hopes that perhaps a few of your readers may have a few real old valentines they do not want, because I would be happy to have any they may care to send me, and be glad to get them. Eventually, I hope to try writing a book about my project. You LIVE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to your advertisers.

enough from it to get off this small VA pension and have some money in case, which the VA is unable to afford me, so my projects have a dual purpose. Thank you for your time and kind consideration in reading my letter. I hope I may be hearing from a few of your readers.

Unfair Voter Intrusion.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
On election day, November 7, as I was waiting in line to sign the registry, a man ahead of me was being shown how to vote with the aid of a small-scale voting machine. The model contained the usual lever, one column of names under heading Republican, one column under Democrat, and one column under "yes/no" levers under Public Questions.

I later asked the lady in charge of the registry why the model did not show columns for other parties or for nominees by petition. She said she didn't know, that perhaps they were on the other model at another table. I looked at the other model and discovered that it displayed only one column of names under the heading Republican.

Even though the names listed were not those of this year's candidates, I suggest that these demonstration boards be discontinued with the two-party system (in one case, a one-party system). The voter information sent out prior to elections is clear and comprehensive, but I feel that the presentation of only one or two political parties during a demonstration is a potential source of confusion and a perturbation to anyone not familiar with the voting process.

Post-Election Statement.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
While I am naturally disappointed at not being elected to the Township Committee, I was heartened by the nearly 45% of the Township voters who endorsed me and the issues which were raised for consideration.

I am most appreciative of this strong support and pledge to continue my efforts to work for more effective government in Princeton Township.

Obituaries

Bernard Kilgore, 59, of Province Line Road, died November 14 at his home. He had been ill with cancer for more than a year.

Chairman of the board of Dow Jones & Co., following three decades as its president, Mr. Kilgore was best known for his achievements in making the Wall Street Journal a widely-read and often-cited national newspaper. He had been named its managing editor in 1941 at the age of 36.

It was 41 years ago that he purchased the Princeton Packet, and last fall, he acquired The Princeton Herald, merging the two weeklies. He also began publication of weeklies circulated in Kendall Park and in East Windsor Township, and earlier this year in Somerset County.

Journalism was Mr. Kilgore's entire career, and he was regarded as an outstanding technician in all of its phases, from news coverage and editing to the technical processes involved in the latest printing methods. His devotion to the profession began in college and continued tirelessly and enthusiastically until the time of his death.

Born in Albany, Ind., on November 9, 1900, Mr. Kilgore graduated from DePauw University, where he was editor of both the college paper and the yearbook. He went to work for the Wall Street Journal in 1929, and six years later was named editor of its Washington Bureau.

Successive steps upward to managing editor and the presidency followed. Despite the demanding nature of his duties, he found time to serve as the trustee of a number of national organizations and to take part in civic and religious affairs of the Princeton community.

Mr. Kilgore was a trustee of Princeton Theological Seminary, a member of the Advisory Council of Princeton University's Astro-Physics Department and an elder of the First Presbyterian Church. He was a trustee of the Daily Princetonian, a director of Palmer Square, Inc. and a former trustee of Princeton Hospital. He also held membership in or served as an officer of many clubs and organizations.

A HOBBY GROWS
Teenagers Now Have Hobbies. Two youthful artisans interested in semi-precious stones are parlaying a hobby into a growing business in handcrafted jewelry. Fred Spitzhoff, 17, and his brother John, 18, registered with the State of New Jersey about a year and a half ago as the "Princeton Gemcellar."

A special showing of their work was held in October at the Now 'N Then Shop in Cranbury, whose owner, Mrs. R. Birchall Kimble, specializes in the work of art crafts- men.

The Gemcellar supplied jewelry for the Rosedale Chapel bazaar last month, turning most of the profits over to the church, and on November 1, sent a tray of jewelry to St. James Catholic Church in Pennington for a similar event. A tray is more than 100 hours' work! says John.

The boys are using more than 35 varieties of semi-precious stones, among them: rose quartz, amethyst, peridot, poppy Jasper, opals, topaz, garnets, red agate, gold berly, blue aventurine, smoky quartz, malachite, blood stones, moss agate and carnelian. They cut, grind and polish the rough stones in their tidy and well-organized basement workshop at home in north Lawrence Township, saving the chips for setting in the tumbling machine and later use. The stones are fitted into 18-karat gold settings as bracelets, pins, earrings, cuff links and necklaces.

How It Started. It was just a hobby in the beginning, Fred, known as "Murphy" to his family, became interested in geology and then in semi-precious stones several years ago while at camp near West Point, Me. A collector showed him the possibilities of making costume jewelry.

Now, however, he infected his brother with his enthusi-

They buy their "findings," the gold mountings for the stones, in New York and California. Last summer the family traveled some 11,000 miles on a vacation trip, bringing back "about 300 pounds of rocks" according to Fred.

From the Red Sea. They're meeting the same problems that all business men meet. "Peridot is difficult to get now," Fred comments. "The best comes from the Red Sea." They sandwich working time between school, sports and homework.

Sales last Christmas resulted to the purchase of a Sudbush by Fred, an expert sailor. John bought a tri-maran Boston whaler.

"But they're not quite solvent yet!" says their father, who has been enjoying the whole thing immensely.

GALBRAITH TO SPEAK
For "Negotiation Now." Harvard economist and former U.S. Ambassador to India John Kenneth Galbraith will speak Sunday in the Princeton Day School auditorium on "The Road to a Political Settlement in Vietnam." The 4:30 speech with tickets selling at $25 each — has been arranged to raise funds for Negotiation Now.

George F. Kennan, former U.S. Ambassador to Russia currently associated with the Institute for Advanced Study, will introduce Dr. Galbraith. The economist's appearance will be another in a series of

News Of The THEATRES

THREE COMING UP
Next, at McCart, Three one act plays, including the medieval "Second" Shepherds Pageant, will be introduced in the McCart Theatre repertory season this Thursday.
Thursday's early curtain will be 7:30. This Friday, the three plays will be given at the usual 8:30 hour.

The "Second Shepherds Pageant" is from the Wakefield cycle, and it is the common man's retelling of the Christ-mas legend. In the McCart triplets it will be joined by William Butler Yeats' "The Words Upon the Window Pane" and a new play called "It Should Happen to a Dog," by Wolf Mankowitz. "The Words Upon the Window Pane" will be directed by Arthur Litwin. McCart's executive director, who describes it as a short adventure into the occult.

"It Should Happen to a Dog," McCart says, is a gentle satire on God's incomprehensibility. It will be directed by Pamela Hawthorne, known to McCart audiences this fall for her portrayal of the daughter in "Enrico IV." Ryan Hall will direct "The Words Pageant."

SPEND YOUR HOLIDAY . . .
At McCart. You've already signed up the children for McCart's "Beauty and the Beast" on Thanksgiving week-end, but the theatre asks us to remind you that adults can have fun at McCart, too, on holidays.

The repertory's cheerful, if unorthodox, version of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" will play the Saturday night after Thanksgiving, and the three

"IT SHOULD HAPPEN TO A DOG." That's the name, and it may even be a line of dialogue, from the new play to be given in premiere at McCart Theatre this Thursday as part of the current repertory series. George Hearn and Jake Henget participate.

new ones: the Friday night after Thanksgiving.

While Shakespeare is on at McCart, Sabicas, the Spanish flamenco guitarist, will be on in Alexander Hall, playing Saturday, November 25 at 8 p.m. as one of McCart's "Pop Specials."

TICKET-PICKIN'
For Scruggs, Flatt, Tickets are for the pickin's at the McCart Theatre, box office for Scruggs and Flatt and The Foggy Mountain Boys, due in Alexander Hall this Saturday at 8 p.m.

Earl Scruggs' banjo-pickin' is a three-fingered, syncopated style which underscores the melodic line, and has served to lift the banjo from a lowly fiddle as a backing instrument to a leading melodic voice.

Then, there's a country fiddle, guitar, dobro and bass. And, as we say, tickets in the McCart box office, for the performance in Alexander Hall.

POLISH YOUR FRENCH
Listen to Barrault, Jean Louis Barrault's skill as an actor is so great (he has been called the Olivier of France) that he can hold in rapt attention audiences whose French is limited indeed.

He will appear in Alexander Hall next Friday, November 24 at 8:30, in a program of readings from four great French writers who lived in the days of Louis XIV, the "Sun King."

M. Barrault will open with the "Recit du Cid" by Corneille, following this with selections from three Moliere plays, "Le Misanthrope," "Scapin," and "Amphytrion." From Racine, he has chosen selections from "Andromache" and "Phedre." La Fontaine's "Illustrations of 'Love's Friendship, Death and Humour'" will also be included in the program.

IT'S NEW To Us

SO WHO SKIS?
Mel! If you don't ski now you will after six minutes in the new Weatherbane shop, 20 Nassau. Or you'll want to, anyway.
The Weatherbane has taken a new turn and is back where it started, as a ski shop—and what a ski shop! Walk in that little doorway and down the long, narrow shop and suddenly you discover you're in a giant ski formation.
The second floor that extends its broad, wide arms into what looks like a real ski chalet.

What Weatherbane has done, of course, is to take over one of the offices on the second floor of the 20 Nassau Street building. The Princeton architect William Short has remodeled that orotic office space into a dramatic ski lodge with weathered beams used as upright panels, and such an air of ski excitement that you'll take off downhill the minute you reach the stairs.
New to the Weatherbane are two young ski instructors: Edward Lapeuter and Ray Keim. There is also, of course, as there always has been at Weatherbane, the old expertise of Reed Laughlin. With these three to guide you, how can you miss?

Mr. Lapeuter, for example, is former ski school director and ski area director at The Snowball in Milton, N. J., and has served as assistant ski school director at Davos, New York, where he met Mr. Laughlin.
Mr. Keim is from Big Boulder at Lake Harmony in the Pocomos. He now owns his own P.S.I.A. (Professional Ski Instructors' Association) school based right there at Weatherbane, and this means you can have lessons in local ski areas and become an Olympic champion in two weeks. (Well . . .)

The three partners have cleared away all the old merchandise at Weatherbane, and everything you see is strictly 1984. They tell you it's the largest store of its kind in the area, and who are we to debate?
In golf terminology, you'd call it a "pro shop." Non-skiers, however, must not buy away. After all, what woman

Ski Open House
This Friday and Saturday, The Weatherbane will have an Open House for all its skiing friends at its 20 Nassau St. shop.
Penny Price, Edgon Zimmerman, Arthur Furrer and Irwin Muehlbauer will be in the champion ship shops. Manufacturers of ski equipment will be in the ski pros will show you technique and you can even learn with them if you want to.
Films of skiing will be shown, and its sound as though things will go on into the evening.

wouldn't want the little rabbit-skin parka to wear on a rabbit kind of cold day, and what man wouldn't want that pullover sweater from Fjord of Norway. He solemnly loved one with crew neck?

Prices at Weatherbane range from $14.95 to $380. Sizes begin with youngsters' size 4-8, styles range the whole spectrum for men and women, from the severely professional to the high-style "sore skis."
(That $380 price tag, to relieve your suspense, belongs on a wolf-skin parka reversible to sand-colored poplin, and on a parka of Argentine skunk which is different from non-Argentine skunk because it's dark brown and cream. Very pretty.)
For $14.95, there's a modest, classic nylon ski jacket.

We'll get back to clothes in a minute, but we want you to know this is an equipment and repair shop, too, not just a boutique.
Bill Manning installs bindings and does repairs and Ed Spear, so far as we can tell, does everything. Skis and equipment are available for rent in any size. All New Head skis are part of the rental offering.

Back to the slopes. The "pro" look of matching parkas is the "pro" look of Weatherbane. You'll find nylon and wool dyed in the same Fireball Red, Red Hot Blue to make you look from head to foot.

Bogner produces a wool-nylon gabardine in severe, dark navy with high collar and silver trim, and wears it with a surprising bright raspberry. (If you know the brand-names of ski clothes, you'll welcome not only Bogner but Raffe, Profile and Meister. If you're a chilly wily, you already know that Meister makes those wonderful down parkas that melt extra.)

Sweaters range from $29 to $48.95, and the top price for hats, even the fur ones, is $18.12. A hand-knit sweaters have matching hats.

LLAMA IN A STOCKING
Dove on a Tree, Christmas at Pleasant and Deer, 256 Nassau, roars from a furry Bolivian llama to a shiny Mexican dove. The shop, with its specialization in Latin American things, likes to show the brightly primitive Christmas decorations that come from the south.

That dove $4 is surely life-size, made of hammered Mexican tin and left unpainted, with a glorious tail and spread wings. Smaller doves, to hang on your tree, are a-bout $6.
Their companions are plump tin blowfish, butterflies, angels, tin llamas and some charming little tin lanterns, made in kindergarten style. Those that are painted are very nearly one-of-a-kind, because each Mexican artist likes to exercise his brightly colored imagination.

But the llama we really long for, long fair, classic enough for in mind is a furry little fellow ($2.90) with his big brother ($4), each with a gay wool blanket across his back. Soft to stroke, but not soft to cut-chain necklaces, bracelets or earrings. Sometimes the circles vary in diameter, like a chain of outline dimes, nickels and quarters. Sometimes the circles have been warped and hammered for interest in texture and form.
Earrings—all pierced look like those puzzles of interlocking wire you give children for Christmas. One pair of earrings is a pure cube of six joined silver circles. Another design is simply a hammered bar of silver. Another looks like a silver propeller.
Prices are about $7.50. A perfect system of earrings, with eight petals makes a $10 pin.

The shop's real treasure comes not from Bolivia or Mexico, but from the far away lands around Cambridge, Mass. This is a collection of hand-made sterling silver jewelry, very fine and tensile, modern enough for a girl with

PLAYERS THIS WEEKEND

In "Separate Tables," in a make shift rehearsal room at Princeton High School, the Community Players work their way through Terrence Rattigan's "Separate Tables." The director, Don Evans, fingers has chin as he thinks, moves forward.

To Trevor Owen cast as the bogus major who finds a newspaper has reported the sex change against him, he says, "Point it more, I'm in the audience and I've got to get interested in that newspaper." Let me see the difference between those questions designed to find out about Mrs. Raiton Bell and the questions that are for cover up.

The actors repeat their lines. "Oh yes, Mrs. Raiton Bell takes it every week." The major, "Does she? Whatever for?"

Evans moves again. "What he's got to change his tone. There are things on in his mind. Give it maybe three beats. You've got to have time for us to see that he's upset and that he's cool enough to cover it."

New Director, "Separate Tables" is the first play that Don Evans has directed for the Community Players. He first gained attention about a year ago with the unusually fine performances turned out by SEPARATE TABLES. Director Don Evans rehearses with John Cawley and Irene Rosenberger, the Community Players' presentations of Rattigan's "Separate Tables" set for this weekend at the John Witherspoon School auditorium.

Princeton High School students. "The play is a melodrama. There's no way to avoid it," Evans said the other night during a pause in rehearsal. "But it is good melodrama, like 'The Little Foxes' and 'The Glass Menagerie.'"

A melodrama to me is a play in which the characters are dealing with everyday conflicts that occur to average persons. In a tragedy, the problems are extra unique. It isn't likely that every man is going to be a King Lear."

Linked Plays. Essentially two plays with inter-linking characters, "Separate Tables" will be presented this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at John Witherspoon School.

The setting is a busy resort hotel in England. The first play, "Table by the Window," concerns Malcolm and his divorced wife Anne. He had once been a promising politician, but had landed in prison when, driven by his wife's calculating coldness, he tried to strangle her. They meet eight years later in the hotel dining room where he is an alcoholic, bitter failure, she is a lovely and successful beauty, is lonely and frightened—and determined to heart.

"The first play is a soap opera," Evans says. "But it's good soap opera. In the second, the characters are not so much of a cliché."

Table No. 7, the second of the pair, centers around the bogus ex-major and a gauche spanster. He is exposed as an impostor who has been arrested for molesting women in movie theaters. When the scandal becomes known, a move must begin to expel him from the hotel.

"The characters in both plays are finely drawn," Evans comments. "They are people that you can take home with you. Each of the twelve characters is complete. Each has depth."

One thing that we have done," he adds, "is try to emphasize those things that are common to our own experience in the U.S. We have not played up class—but separateness or loneliness."

The Players, rehearsing nightly this past week, have clung from Evans' theme of loneliness. Scotty Bloch as the major, says, "I feel for her. She's a woman all her life and she finds herself losing them... and she's frightened, nervous, ecstatic, an inveterate liar, yet in the last scene she tries to be honest. I want to make her a person, because she has my heart."

Lorin Zissman, playing opposite her as Malcolm, notes, "He's not my kind of person because he's given up, and I find that intolerable. Yet if I had his role to play in life—six months in prison—I might have settled for that kind of life. He's alive and sensitive to people and I like him for that."

In the second play, Irene Rosenberger who has always drawn ingenue roles, is cast as Mrs. Raiton-Bell. "She is almost righteous about things. She's a witch hunter. She wants to destroy evil—and yet she's the most evil thing. It's ironic."

Barbara Herzberg, who appears in both plays as Miss Meacham, comments, "I see Meacham as a very sad person, lonely, yet she probably the most perceptive one in the play. She's the only one who treats the major as a person. The others treat him as an ethical or moral problem. But she admits she's always thought him a bore... and doesn't give a damn. The playwright suggests that she's right, but I am playing her as rather mad."

MUSIC In Princeton

ONE OF THE GREATEST
Chicago Symphony Plays
 Here, The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Jean Martinon, performed at McCarter Monday evening in the first of five SCS 1 concerts scheduled this season. The program included Beethoven's "Leonore Overture No. 3, Opus 72a; the first performance in Princeton of Roger Sessions' Symphony No. 7; and Brahms' 4th Symphony in E Minor, Op. 98.

It is easy to understand why the Chicago Symphony Orchestra is considered one of the great instrumental ensembles of the world. Founded by Theodore Thomas in the latter part of the 19th century, it has been fortunate to have had a series of great conductors guiding it into the 20th century.

Fritz Reiner was perhaps its greatest director, building it into this fine musical organization, a gigantic instrument of precision, polish and artistic achievement. Jean Martinon, though different he may be as an interpreter than his great predecessor, has continued, in this reviewer's opinion, to maintain the high standards of excellence one has come to expect from the Chicago Symphony.

The Beethoven "Leonore Overture" was given a splendid reading. Though Mr. Martinon chose deliberate tempi, the music never lagged. On the contrary, the music sounded fresh and exciting, always driving, moving, rising and falling.

A serious lapse in the horn section at one key point in the score was unfortunate, but soon forgotten in the afterglow of the brilliant playing that followed. All the choirs of the orchestra came into play in a magnificent display of orchestral clarity and balance as the score reached its glorious climax. Mr. Martinon, in temper, he does not merely lead. He takes certain liberties, but all are in good taste.

The Sessions score that followed was a powerful, moving and dynamic composition, full of the composer's great craft and musical intelligence. Unfortunately, it also says much in the same way as earlier Sessions symphonies have said before but with perhaps less freshness and interest than his preceding efforts in the same musical medium. The sweeping string line is there, as are the beautiful contrasts in dynamic shading, the work has scope, shape, line and continuity, all essential for a piece to succeed. But it also displays a repetition of orchestral effects that become less effective as they recur.

The use of the xylophone in short sporadic gestures, so effectively employed in the fifth Sessions symphony, seems course here. There are also, it would seem, too frequent changes in dynamic expression. This, however, could be the fault of the interpretation. New works seldom receive perfect realizations of the composer's intentions, and one of the more frequent flaws in performances of new scores is in play different portions of the music in the same manner.

It is a pity that more of Mr. Sessions' music is not commercially recorded or heard by the listening public. He is one of the foremost creative musicians and deserves greater recognition than he has received in recent years. A symphony such as the one played Monday night, requires more than one hearing and these first impressions must be taken as nothing more than that.

After intermission: Mr. Martinon and his orchestra returned to present a performance of the Symphony No. 4 in E major by Brahms. The music is simply gorgeous from beginning to end, and the inter-pretation by the Chicago Symphony was outstanding. When music is played so beautifully, there is no sense in going into much detail. The glorious sounds speak for themselves. As an encore, Mr. Martinon led his forces in an abridged version of the Air from Bach's "Suite No. 3 in D" for Orchestra.

REGIONAL BALLET HERE
 Season's First Ballet. The first offering of McCarter's ballet series featured the Princeton Regional Ballet under the artistic direction of Audrey Eddy. The performance took place Sunday afternoon and, as usual, displayed the enormous variety of talented young artists who have been trained by the members of this fine company.

There were five works on the program: "Chanson Innocente," choreography by Audrey Eddy and Joan Lucas; "To Unfold The Fan" by Myra Kineh; an excerpt from the Pas de Dix, by Balanchine to music by Glazounov; a psalm subtitled, "A Song of Ascents" to the music of Ernest Bloch; the first Concerto Grosso with choreography by Myra Kineh, and "CONCERTO" by Lila Brunner, ballet mistress of the company, to music of Vivaldi. Nathaniel Burt composed the score for the "Chanson Innocente" and the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Nicholas Haranyi, ably accompanied the dancers.

The company boasts some lovely young dancers, namely Phyllis Pass, Cathy Richards, Judith Levine, Donald Lopez, Nadine Ford and Oscar Antunes, Dorothy Pettit and Isabel Johnson. These performers have been well trained in the disciplines of their art. There is no awkwardness or uncertainty. They dance well and beautifully.

A special feature of the program was the brilliant artistry of Barbara Sandoz and the Pennsylvania Ballet Company. The many intricate motions of Balanchine's superb choreography were executed with exact clarity and precision by these fine concert.

The highlight of the entire program occurred with the performance of the Psalm: "A Song of Ascents." Miss Nunch has composed an expressive dance piece here, one of those most valuable compositions.

Her conception of the music into dance forms and patterns was easily within the scope of the music, yet meaningful on its own terms.

The Princeton Regional Ballet is truly a regional organization. It affords opportunity to its students that are seldom realized in ballet schools elsewhere. These students not only learn from expert teachers in their field, but become better acquainted with the elements of their art through being exposed to the artistry of those who are given a chance to perform publicly, as vital to the aspiring dancer. These young people can be proud, for their performances Sunday afternoon were on a high level, both poetically and artistically.

—Aure Sofran

YALE TO MEET TIGERS

In the Yale Concert, A foot ball concert featuring a joint appearance of the Princeton and Yale Glee Clubs will be held Friday, at 8 in Alexander Hall. During the program the two clubs will unite to sing Franz Schubert's "Battle Song."

After both clubs have had a chance to sing songs from their individual repertoires.

OTHER PAPERS will run their series of lectures for the week ending if they do not sell in 750 copies. The book is sold and better results.

The Princeton Glee Club will be joined by the Princeton University Freshman Glee Club to sing traditional numbers. This will be the first appearance of the Freshman group in several years.

CLUBS SETS PROGRAM
For Dillion Recital, Schumann, Beethoven Chopin and Samuel Barber will be the program for the Princeton Glee Club on Sunday, December 3, at his second Princeton recital.

Mr. Cliburn will play at 3:30. The pianist will open with Robert Schumann, continuing with Beethoven's Sonata in E-flat Major, Opus 11A known as "Les Adieux." Samuel Barber's Sonata Opus 26 will conclude the first half of the program.

The second half of the recital will be devoted to Chopin. Mr. Cliburn will play three Etudes, the Nocturne in E-flat Major, Opus 9, No. 2, and the Mazurka in B-flat Minor, Opus 11. Tickets still remain at the McCarter box office.

OLD GROUP ORGANIZES
New Princeton Chapter, Several Princeton area residents have organized a Princeton Chapter of the SPBSSQA in a Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. A membership meeting, to which all interested Princeton residents are invited, will be held Tuesday, November 28, at 8 in the First Presbyterian Church.

Wives are cautioned to remember that they must be accompanied by their husbands. Several barbershop harmony groups will give demonstrations at the meeting — representing nearby New Jersey communities.

Instrumental in formulating plans for the new chapter were Arthur Hicks, Edward G. Ward and R. Devereaux Munn — all former Barber-shoppers who had recently moved to the Princeton area. For information on joining the new group either Mr. Ward or Mr. Munn should be contacted at 924-9571 or 452-9571 respectively. The SPBSSQA is the largest all-male singing organization in North America. Its activities include fostering fellowship, good music and community service.

ORGANIST TO LECTURE
At Westminster. Alec Wyton, visiting professor of church music at Westminster Choir College, will give his third lecture in a series of contemporary church music Monday. The lecture — scheduled for the Westminster chapel at 11 — will center on a composition of Ralph Vaughan Williams' music.

Mr. Wyton is the former organist and musical adviser to the British Broadcasting Company. He is a graduate of Oxford University, receiving his bachelor's degree in 1949 and his master's in 1949.

From 1946 to 1950 while Mr. Wyton was studying for his graduate degree, he also worked for the BBC and held the post of organist and choir-master at a church in Northampton. In 1948 he was elected president of the American Guild of Organists, a position which he still holds.

Mr. Wyton headed the organ department at Westminster from 1955 to 1957 prior to his appointment as visiting professor. He has given concerts in many major cities and composed music ranging from church anthems to organ preludes.

CAMPUS CONCERT SET
To Feature Stravinsky, Bach, Edward Cone of the department of music at Princeton University, will be piano soloist in Stravinsky's Concerto for Piano and Winds when the Princeton University Orchestra gives its first concert of the season Sunday.

The campus and community musicians will play at 3:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall on campus. The concert is free to the public.

The orchestra will also play the Bach Brandenburg Concerto No. 3 and Dvorak's Symphony No. 8 in G. The conductor of the orchestra is Robert Freeman.

Soloists in the Brandenburg will be the Bach Chamber Ensemble, a group of undergraduates consisting of Alan Steinman, 17, violin; James Winn, 18 flutist and Robert Moreen, 18 harpsichord.

QUARTET IS NEXT
"Amadeus" Quartet Coniag, Bartok, Beethoven and naturally, Mozart will occupy members of the Amadeus Quartet of London during their Princeton recital in McCarter Theatre next Monday at 8:30. The four musicians are appearing at the second concert in Series II of the Princeton University Concerts. Tickets are on sale at the McCarter box office.

The Quartet will play Bartok's Quartet No. 6, the Beethoven Quartet in E-flat Major, Opus 157 and Mozart's Quartet in D Major, K. 499. The two violinists and the viola are Austrians who were born in Vienna, but fled to England during the war. As they worked in English war factories, they continued their studies of music and became acquainted with one another while studying under Max Rostal in London.

They joined with the cello, who is in Englishman, and made their first public appearance in 1946. They are appearing in Princeton as part of a trans national American tour.

MILES, SYNCRETIC
At the Princeton University. Taking time off from composing and orchestrating this year's Princeton recital, Barry Miles will take his Quintet and his syncretic compositions to Murray Theatre this Friday and Saturday (8:30) for performances sponsored by Theatre Incarnate. Mr. Miles is a junior at Princeton University. He is known for his skill on piano, vibes and drums, and he tapes very good records.

"Syncretic Compositions," (the name of his newest album) are "combinations of different styles of music, resulting in a new music, relying heavily on improvisation and the character of the performer."

Mr. Miles recorded his first album, "Miles of Genies" for J.C.M. when he was only 19. He has, since then, appeared in concert with Miles Davis, Dave Brubeck, Duke Ellington and Woody Herman. He has performed by invitation at the White House.

Reservations for the Theatre Incarnate performance may be made by calling 452-3637 between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m. weekdays.

ORGAN RECITAL PLANNED
For Tuesday Evening, Kenneth Landis of Harrisburg, Pa., will give the first of a series of organ recitals in Miller Chapel on the Princeton Seminary campus Tuesday at 7:45. The public is invited free of charge.

A graduate of Westminster Choir College with both bachelor and master's degrees, Mr. Landis has taught organ and related subjects at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa.; Messiah College, Grantham, Pa.; and Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pa. Previously, Mr. Landis and his wife, are the "ministers of music" at the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, Pa.

He has made several recital tours throughout New England and has appeared as recitalist at MIT. He has presented recitals at Fifth Avenue Church and Riverside Church in New York.
